TD Ameritrade Self-Directed Brokerage Account Overview

What is the TD Ameritrade Self-Directed Brokerage Account (SDBA)?

The TD Ameritrade SDBA is available to you as an additional investment option available through your employer-sponsored retirement Plan (Plan), referred to as the “core account” administered by Voya Retirement Insurance and Annuity Company. This option gives you the freedom to invest a portion of your plan assets in a self-directed brokerage account that provides access to a wider array of investment choices, including open-end mutual funds, fixed income securities, Exchange Traded Funds (ETFs) and publicly traded stocks.

How is the TD Ameritrade SDBA different from a typical brokerage account?

Since the TD Ameritrade SDBA is an investment option under your Plan it is regulated by the Internal Revenue Code Section that governs your plan, other laws and the Plan document. Therefore, the same rules and restrictions that govern your core account apply to the dollars transferred to your TD Ameritrade SDBA.

The TD Ameritrade SDBA can only be funded through transfers from one or more of the Plan’s core investment options. The following securities and transactions are generally not available through the TD Ameritrade SDBA: short sales, margin trading, options trading, foreign securities, currencies, non-exchanged listed limited partnership, pink sheet securities, bulletin board securities, futures/ commodities, promissory notes, real estate/ property, collectibles, municipal bonds and unit investment trusts.

How are the investment choices in the TD Ameritrade SDBA different from those available through my employer’s retirement Plan?

There is a significant difference between the investment choices available through your employer’s retirement plan and the investments available through the TD Ameritrade SDBA.

Investment options offered through your Plan are selected by a thorough due-diligence process which helps ensure that you are offered a diverse and balanced array of appropriate long-term investments.

The investment choices available through TD Ameritrade, however, are not approved, selected, monitored or reviewed by Voya Financial, Inc. (“Voya”) or your employer-sponsored Plan. When you elect to open a TD Ameritrade SDBA, you assume the sole responsibility for researching, selecting, monitoring and managing the investments in your TD Ameritrade SDBA. As an investor, you need to be aware of the additional risk that may be present in the investments available through this option.

Is a self-directed brokerage account right for me?

A TD Ameritrade SDBA is designed for the experienced investor who wants to independently and actively manage an even greater choice of investments and is willing to pay additional fees and accept full responsibility for researching, selecting, monitoring and managing their investments. Additionally, Voya and its affiliated companies, its officers, agents or employees cannot advise concerning the suitability of a security or investment strategy, nor can they provide financial, legal or tax advice. If you are confident with an independent approach to actively managing the retirement assets you’ve invested in the Plan, the TD Ameritrade SDBA may be right for you. Keep in mind, however, that if you choose to open a TD Ameritrade SDBA, you also assume the added responsibility for actively managing the investments in your account. If you are not comfortable actively managing your own investment portfolio, it’s likely the core investments in the Plan will help meet your needs.

What should I consider before opening a TD Ameritrade SDBA?

The TD Ameritrade SDBA is designed for the experienced investor. Before using this option as part of your retirement savings portfolio, you should consider whether a TD Ameritrade SDBA is appropriate for your long-term investment needs. If all of the following describes you as an investor, the brokerage account may be right for you:

- I have access to the Internet.
- I am knowledgeable about investment matters.
- I am comfortable with, and understand risk, and I am capable of making my own personal investment decisions.
- I have experience using the Internet to research and manage my investments.
- I have the time and investment expertise to research, evaluate and select investments consistent with my investment strategy and personal risk profile.
- I have the time to monitor and manage my retirement plan portfolio.
- I am willing to pay additional fees and charges to invest in investment choices not available within my core account.

Am i eligible?

To open a TD Ameritrade SDBA, you must have a balance of at least $5,000 in your core investment options. Generally, the maximum amount that can be transferred to the SDBA is 50% of your total core retirement plan account balance. The minimum transfer amount is typically $2,500 and you must maintain a minimum core account balance of $2,500. This minimum core account balance will be monitored each time you request a transfer. Please contact Customer Service at (800) 584-6001 for more details.

Your investments in the TD Ameritrade SDBA are made through transfers from your core account. Your payroll contributions cannot be directed to TD Ameritrade – they must continue to be directed to one or more of the Plan's core investment options.

Remember, your TD Ameritrade SDBA is an investment choice under the Plan administered by Voya, so only assets held in your Plan may be transferred to the TD Ameritrade SDBA. Eligibility rules may vary by plan. Please contact your Benefits Office for more information.

Broader choice of investment options

What investments are available?

Through your TD Ameritrade account you can select from publicly traded stocks, ETFs, fixed income securities and a broad range of mutual funds, including No Transaction Fee (NTF) mutual funds.¹ Using TD Ameritrade's online screening tools, you will be able to research and access in-depth, independent information about the investments that you are considering.

You should consider the investment objectives, risks, and charges and expenses of the investment company carefully before investing. To obtain a prospectus containing this and other important information, please call a TD Ameritrade representative at 866-766-4015. Please read the prospectus carefully before investing.

As a plan participant in a tax-deferred retirement plan, you should be aware that certain funds, such as tax-exempt municipal bond funds and retail versions of the Plan's core options, may not be appropriate investments because of their fund and/or fee structure.

What are No Transaction Fee mutual funds?

The No Transaction Fee (NTF) program allows you to place orders with certain mutual funds without paying a transaction fee. Shares of mutual funds in the NTF program must be held for 90 days from the date of purchase. Funds redeemed or exchanged within 90 days of the purchase date may incur a transaction fee. The NTF eligibility applies only to the initial transaction fee associated with the purchase of the fund. It does not apply to the management fee or other expenses associated with the fund including any redemption fees. For full details on expenses/fees, please refer to the mutual fund prospectus. Read it carefully before investing. Commission schedules and fees are subject to change without notice. Go to www.tdameritraderetirement.com for more complete details on commissions and fees.

¹No-Transaction-Fee (NTF) mutual funds are no-load mutual funds for which TD Ameritrade does not charge a transaction fee. NTFs, as well as other funds, have other continuing fees and expenses described in the fund's prospectus. TD Ameritrade receives remuneration from fund companies for record-keeping, shareholder and other administrative services. The amount of remuneration is based in part on the amount of investments in such funds by TD Ameritrade clients. Almost all funds held 90 days or less will be subject to a short-term redemption fee of $49.99. This fee is in addition to any applicable transaction fees or fees described in the fund's prospectus.

Account statements

What information will I receive about my TD Ameritrade SDBA?

You will continue to receive your Plan's regular quarterly statement that shows the total account value of your core account investment options in addition to the aggregate value of your TD Ameritrade account. You will also receive a separate statement from TD Ameritrade for your SDBA detailing individual holdings and transactions. You will receive this statement monthly when there is trade activity in your TD Ameritrade account, and quarterly when there is no activity. You can designate how you would like to receive statements and trade confirmations by logging on to your brokerage account at www.tdameritraderetirement.com. Electronic statements and trade confirmations are available.

You will also receive fund prospectuses, semi-annual and annual reports for the investments in your TD Ameritrade SDBA.

How do I transfer back to my core account?

To transfer assets back to your core account, you may first need to redeem/sell the securities held in your TD Ameritrade SDBA. Once the trades have settled (generally one to three business days, depending upon the type of security), you can request a transfer to your core account at www.voyaretirementplans.com. Select Manage Investments/Fund Transfer.

Loans and distributions from my TD Ameritrade SDBA

Are distributions available from the TD Ameritrade SDBA?

Loans and all distributions can only be made from the core account investment options; your TD Ameritrade SDBA cannot be directly accessed for any type of distribution. All distributions from the Plan, including amounts in the TD Ameritrade SDBA, are subject to the requirements of the Internal Revenue Code Section that govern your Plan, other laws, and the Plan document.

Withdrawals

If you request a withdrawal from the Plan for any reason, only the assets in your core account can be used for the withdrawal amount. If the amount of the withdrawal is greater than the amount available in your core investment options, you will need to transfer assets from your TD Ameritrade SDBA to your core account, prior to your withdrawal request being processed.

Loans

Loan disbursements can only be withdrawn from assets in your core investment options. However, assets held in your SDBA will be included in the calculation of the maximum loan amount available to you. If you require a loan amount greater than the assets available in your core investment options, you may need to liquidate securities in your TD Ameritrade SDBA and transfer the assets to your core account, to satisfy the loan amount. Please keep in mind that loans may impact your withdrawal value and limit participation in future growth potential.

Systematic Distribution Options

If you elect a Systematic Distribution Option from your core account, you will be required to liquidate the securities in your TD Ameritrade SDBA and transfer the assets to your core account. Voya will not process your systematic distribution request until the assets have been transferred to your core account. Systematic distributions will be taxed as ordinary income in the year the money is distributed to you. Account values fluctuate with market conditions, and the principal value may be worth more or less than its original amount invested.
